Halloween Festivities Fill the Historic Area for Haunting on DoG Street 2019

Two nights of trick-or-treating is presented Oct. 25-26 in partnership with Mars Wrigley and AMERICAN HERITAGE® Chocolate, part of two weeks of Halloween-themed entertainment for the whole family

WILLIAMSBURG, Va. (Aug. 21, 2019) – Colonial Williamsburg’s Haunting on DoG Street returns this October with Halloween-themed evening programs, ghost tours and spooky museum tours sure to get guests of all ages in the Halloween spirit Oct. 14-31, plus family Trick-or-Treating Oct. 25-26.

The foundation hosts its fifth annual Trick-or-Treating event thanks to the generosity of Mars Wrigley. From 6-8 p.m. both nights families can collect treats at Historic Area sites, follow a candlelit Jack-o-lantern Pathway with more than 200 hand-carved pumpkins, watch haunted horsemen peruse the town on their skeleton horses and see the Chownings perform on their merry scary wagon. Guests can visit the Palmer House yard to hear chilling ghost stories, meet the Weird Cooke Sisters in their shrieking pet cemetery and come face to face with the fearsome pirate Blackbeard and his band of buccaneers.

The festivities also include a haunted auction at the Raleigh Tavern and a Pumpkin Patch dance party featuring “live” music by the spirited Lady Lucy and her Scarecrow Band on the Capitol south lawn. A food and beverage stand selling AMERICAN HERITAGE® Chocolate items including hot chocolate and baked goods will be available to guests along Duke of Gloucester Street. Additional food options, including burgers and hot dogs, will also be available for purchase on the Capitol south lawn. With an extra ticket guests can enjoy special spooky carriage rides through the Historic Area. The night closes with a frighteningly fun finale featuring a Spirits of ’76 Fifes & Drums mayhem march.

“The nighttime atmosphere in the Historic Area during the fall and Halloween season is exciting,” said Robert Currie, Colonial Williamsburg director of entertainment, special events and evening programs. “The cresset-lined streets and historic buildings lend themselves to the mysterious and immersive experience we want guests to enjoy during our ghost tours and evening programs throughout October.”

For fans of ghost tours, “Haunted Williamsburg,” combines 18th-century ghost tales with stories of chilling modern encounters and is the only ghost tour that takes guests inside Colonial Williamsburg’s historic buildings. It is offered at 7 and 8:30 p.m. nightly in October. The “Official Ghost Walk Junior,” perfect for families with young children, is also offered nightly Oct. 14-31.

Additional spooky evening programs offered Oct. 14-31 include:

- “Cry Witch” Mondays, Tuesdays and Fridays at 7:30 and 9 p.m.,
- “To Hang a Pirate” Sundays and Thursdays at 7:30 and 9 p.m.,
- “Colonial Williamsburg Escape Room: Spies & Lies” Mondays, Thursdays, Fridays and Saturdays at 6:30, 6:45, 8 and 8:15 p.m.,
- “Trial of a Patriot” Wednesdays and Saturdays at 7:30 and 9 p.m.,
- “Monsters, Mayhem and Musick” Oct. 15, 22 and 29 at 7:30 p.m.

At the Art Museums of Colonial Williamsburg’s Hennage Auditorium, historian Carson Hudson discusses how colonial Virginians shared a common belief in the supernatural and the existence of witches in “Witchcraft in Colonial Virginia,” Oct. 24 and 31 at 4:30 p.m.

October art museum tours include “Face Your Fears,” in which guests discover creepy and not-so scary objects Wednesdays at 10:15 a.m. and Fridays at 2:45 p.m. starting Oct. 9. Museum
